Moscow Says Reich Taking Soldiers From Eastern Area To Aid Bock

MOSCOW, July 29—Bolstered by a new army of 250,000 men rushed to the Eastern Front from France and backed by tanks and armored vehicles in uncounted thousands, Nazi Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock lunged mercilessly toward Stalingrad and the lower Caucasus today.

Driving force of the Nazi offensive, undiminished despite the enormous casualties inflicted by Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's defending troops, compelled another Soviet withdrawal in the Bataisk area South of fallen Rostov.

It was apparent to military observers in Moscow that Adolf Hitler's determination to take the Caucasus even at the cost of stripping down his defenses in western Europe was heavy fruit. The time is long distant, it was freely admitted, when Timoshenko can turn on the Germans with the counter-offensive that he plans when the enemy has become weakened by constant attrition.

Fully a quarter of a million fresh Nazi troops, embracing 14 infantry divisions and two tank divisions, have been brought in from France in recent weeks, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star estimated.

Thousands Available
Added to the mechanized units still in action on various sectors of the front, these new tank detachments probably bring the total number of armed and armored vehicles operating under Von Bock's command to something in the neighborhood of twelve or fifteen thousand.

Not all of these are first-line assault tanks. But in view of the success of Soviet artillery and dive-bombing planes in slicing deep into the German attack strength day by day, Von Bock apparently has an almost inexhaustible supply of mechanized vehicles at his command.

Only at Voronezh, where the Russians are counter-attacking persistently, were Soviet successes recorded.

THIEVES BREAK LOCK, TAKE FOUR TIRES, WHEELS

Thieves forced their way into the garage of Harry M. Gordon, 432 East Mound street, Tuesday night and escaped with four tires and four wheels. Mr. Gordon, father of Mayor Ben H. Gordon, reported to police that a lock was broken on the garage and that rear tires and wheels were stripped from the coupe of his son, Julius, and from a truck also in the garage.

The theft was discovered when Julius Gordon and George Vierebome, East Main street, went to the garage early Wednesday in preparation for a trip to Camp Crowder, Missouri, to visit S. R. Gordon, a brother of Julius, who is in training there. Gordon and Vierebome borrowed the automobile of Leon Gordon, Seyfert avenue, another brother, to start their trip.

Ironically, Mayor Gordon and Police Chief W. F. McCrady were talking at city hall Tuesday evening concerning conditions and the mayor declared that no major break-ins had been reported recently.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff reported finding Wednesday of an abandoned auto along the Scioto river. The car, a 1929 Chevrolet, was stripped of tires, wheels and all identification marks.

WAR BOND TOTAL ABOUT HALF OF JULY'S QUOTA

Defense bond sales in the county so far this month have netted $22,599.50, according to a report Wednesday by E. A. Smith, county chairman.

The goal for July has been set at $45,000 and only two days remain in which to bring the total above the mark.

LOENING, TURNER CALLED

Rickenbacker To Go Before Solons; Others Will Be Asked To Testify

WASHINGTON, July 29 — A Senate determined to overcome the submarine menace and win the war in the air today summoned some of the nation's foremost experts to tell how soon a fleet of troop and cargo carrying planes can be produced.

Heading the list were Grover Loening, designer of the giant flying boat, Mars; Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, famous World War ace; Roscoe Turner, noted speed and cross country flyer, and Robert W. Filmer, New York aircraft inventor.

According to Sen. Lee (D) Okla., chairman of a Senate military affairs subcommittee, Filmer also was called to testify. He also had asked Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission, and Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, to testify.

Kaiser has suggested that because ship production is below capacity, nine shipyards should be converted to building giant flying boats.

To Hear Higgins
Johnson said that the committee also will be glad to hear Andrew J. Higgins, New Orleans shipbuilder, if he wants to testify. Sen. Truman (D) Mo., chairman of a special Senate committee on National Defense, said that Kaiser also would appear before that group today.

"We want to get a clear idea of his plan to produce the big aircraft," Truman said. "At present the country has no pilots for these big planes and some time will be required to train them."

The Truman committee also called Ralor Talbot, WPB air expert.

Lee declared the military affairs subcommittee is anxious to hear Filmer's plans for mass production of troop and cargo planes built mostly of plywood.

KILLER TO FACE RIFLE SQUAD AT PRISON IN UTAH

SALT LAKE CITY, July 29—Donald Lawton Condit, 25, convicted hitch-hike slayer from Los Angeles, today faced execution by a firing squad at dawn Thursday as Gov. Herbert B. Maw of Utah announced he would not intervene.

A former convict from San Quentin, Cal., Condit was found guilty of the robbery-murder of Harold A. Thorne, Salt Lake City salesman who had given him a ride from Las Vegas, Nev., to Cedar City, Utah, March 20, 1941.

Deputy Sheriff R. H. Adams of Iron county said that five men had been selected for the firing squad. Utah is the only state which uses the firing squad method of execution.

TRAFFIC OFFICER MAKES ONE AUTO DRIVER HAPPY

PORTLAND, Me., July 29—When Charles Miller was ordered to the curb by a police cruiser, the motorist groaned: "What have I done now?"

"Nothing," said the policeman as he handed Miller a pocketbook containing $310. "Your baby just tossed this out of your car."

So today there's at least one motorist happy because he was flagged down by a traffic cop.

Agriculture Office Warns Proper Use Of Supply On Hand Imperative

WASHINGTON, July 29—With the wartime powers of President Roosevelt at stake, Army defense attorney today sought to save eight German spies from conviction on espionage charges before a military commission by an 11th hour appeal to the Supreme Court to transfer their cases to a civil tribunal.

The highest court, summoned into extraordinary session by Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone, met at noon to decide whether it will permit defense attorneys to file writs of habeas corpus in behalf of the saboteurs. If it assumes jurisdiction, the Supreme Court then will conduct a hearing on the writs and ultimately reach a momentous decision affecting not only the fate of the saboteurs but the wartime power of the President.

The military commission was named by the President to try the saboteurs after they were landed on American shores by German submarines in mid-June with enough explosives to dynamite more than 300 plants. Mr. Roosevelt also issued an executive proclamation denying all spies, American and alien alike, the right of appeal to civil courts from any military prosecution. Both orders are being challenged in the Supreme Court proceedings.

YOUTH SHOTS GIRL, THEN ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

SHARON, Pa., July 29 — A young bank secretary was slain in the center of the downtown district today by a young man who turned the sawed-off shotgun on himself and snuffed out his own life a few seconds later.

Killed were Miss Isabelle Shane, about 21, a secretary in the McDowell National bank here for the last year, and a man identified from cards in his pockets as Chauncey McDonald, about 24, of Hooks.

Police said McDonald apparently left his parked car and caught up with the young woman as she walked to work. He killed her with one blast from the muslin-wrapped gun. He immediately placed the weapon against his own cheek and pulled the trigger again.

Miss Shane's employers recalled that she had mentioned to them several days ago that McDonald had been calling her and sending her notes.

RAF Air Marshal Promises Cycle Of Assaults

By Leo V. Dolan
LONDON, July 29—In fulfillment of Air Marshal Sir Arthur Travers Harris' promise that American and British bombers will "scourge the Third Reich from end to end," the Royal Air Force carried out a terrific new attack on the once-great Nazi port of Hamburg last night, the air ministry announced today.

It was the second raid in force against Hamburg in three days and left vast destruction in its wake. Thirty-two British bombers failed to return, as against 29 lost in the previous attack.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The German high command, seeking to minimize the military value of the attack, said that the Eppendorf hospital was heavily hit and public buildings set afire. The civilian population sustained losses, Berlin said. A communique claimed that German night fighters, anti-aircraft batteries and naval guns shot down 45 British planes. At the same time, it was claimed that industrial plants, railway installations and airdromes in central and southern England were "effectively" attacked by the Luftwaffe during the night.)

With Britain elated by success of a new and secret type of anti-aircraft gun used Monday night for the first time, there was a general feeling that the successive attacks on Hamburg represented the start of an unending cycle of raids against the Reich.

YANK BOMBERS JOIN IN ATTACK ON CRETE AREA

CAIRO, July 29 — A force of heavy allied bombers again has severely battered axis shipping in Suda bay, off the German-held island of Crete, the British middle east high command announced today.

Planes of the United States Army Air Corps under command of Maj. Gen. Lewis Brereton participated in the previous assault against Crete last week and mention of "Allied" bombers in today's communique was taken to mean that American fliers again took part.

The raid on the enemy Mediterranean base was carried out at dusk, the high command said.

Land operation on the desert battle front west of El Alamein, the British command said, were confined yesterday to routine patrol.

There was some artillery action on the northern sector.

The communique said that air activity was conducted "on a reduced scale over the battle area."

BOSTON, July 29—"I don't want a B ration book," the unidentified man told his rationing board, "but I will take a note to my wife."

"You see, my wife wants me to take her driving on Sundays. I don't want to take her driving on Sundays. If you give me a note saying I can't have a B book then I won't have to take her out."

He got an A book. And a note to his wife.

War Bulletins

MOSCOW — Red Star, official organ of the Soviet army, said today that Hitler had transferred 14 infantry divisions and two tank divisions, totalling possibly 240,000 men, from France to Russia during the last two months.

MEXICO CITY — The luxury yacht Vita has been sold to the United States government by Indalecio Prieto, former member of the Loyalist government of Spain, it was disclosed today. The Vita, now at Acapulco, will be turned over to the U. S. Navy for anti-submarine patrol service. The sale price was reported to be $300,000.

HARTFORD, CONN. — Opening statements by prosecution and defense counsel were expected today in the trial of the Rev. Kurt E. B. Meisahn, Philadelphia clergyman charged with conspiracy to violate espionage laws. Ten men and three women were chosen as jurors yesterday, leaving two additional jurors and two alternates to be selected today. This, however, was not expected to take more than a few hours.

LONDON — Reuters today reported a broadcast by the Paris radio of an official German news agency dispatch stating that Nazi elite "ss" troops formerly in action on the Russian front have been moved to France and placed under direction of the western high command. The troops will march through Paris today, it was added.

LONDON — A total of 6,178,681 tons of German and Italian shipping has been captured, sunk or damaged by British action up to June 30, the admiralty announced today. This figure, it was explained, does not include losses inflicted on the axis by the Russians. Soviet forces had accounted for an estimated 750,000 tons. The total also excludes 44 Italian and German vessels aggregating 256,079 tons tied up in Central and South American ports.

TRIO KILLED ON RAILROAD TRACK NEAR URBANA, O.

URBANA, July 29—A verdict of accidental death was returned today in the fatal injury yesterday of three Springfield persons by a freight train at Westville, near Urbana.

Victims of the mishap were identified as:

George Frost, 72; his wife, Mary Jane, 63; and Mrs. Bessie E. Clark.

Authorities said the trio had been picking berries along the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad and that they were walking on one of the railroad's double tracks when the eastbound train struck them.

Roy Frost, 22, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frost, and Marlin Smart, 15, a grandson, at the side of the right-of-way at the time of the accident, were uninjured.

Frost told authorities that he called a warning to the victims but apparently his cries were not heard due, probably, to the fact that a westbound train was passing on the line's other tracks.

Allied Troops Repulse Japs In Papua District

HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, July 29—Countering Japanese penetration inland toward Port Moresby, Allied ground forces in Papua, Southeast New Guinea, have repulsed enemy units and driven them back in hard fighting near the Kokoda airdrome, it was announced today.

"Allied patrols attacked and drove back the enemy from advanced outposts positions," a communique issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur said.

The fighting, it was revealed, took place in rugged jungle country surrounding the United Nations airdrome at Kokoda, midway between newly won Japanese bases at Gona Mission and Buna on the east coast and the advanced Allied base at Port Moresby.

Gen. MacArthur said that strong Japanese forces are "aggressively pressing our troops in the Kokoda gap leading to Port Moresby."

The threat of the Japanese advance to Port Moresby is emphasized by the fact that should the enemy gain control of Kokoda it would provide them with an airport within 60 miles of the United Nations base at Moresby which the Japanese have repeatedly sought to destroy.

While Allied ground forces battled Japanese troops in the rugged country of the Owen Stanley mountain range, American and Australian air squadrons kept up a steady bombardment of the enemy base at Gona mission.

HITLER THROWS 250,000 MORE MEN AT SOVIET

ter a three-day battle and heavy fighting is now in progress South of the river.

Latest reports from the Bataisk area said that during a violent engagement the Germans brought up reinforcements, sending the Russians back to new positions.

At Voronezh, however, the outlook was still favorable. The Soviets, maintaining the initiative, captured more populated points and inflicted great losses on the enemy.

Last night the Red troops broke through a strong enemy defense line on the approaches to the southern suburbs of the city. After hand-to-hand fighting, the enemy retreated and called up aviation to assist in holding their position.

An official Soviet high command communiqué said that during the last 10 days, Russian attacks against the German left flank at Voronezh had cost the Germans 10,800 troops and 158 tanks.

Far to the Northwest, around Leningrad, new hostilities were reported to have broken out when the Germans launched fierce counter-attacks. Heavy tank battles resulted and the Germans were beaten off, Russian reports said.

Resistance Stronger

Red Star, official organ of the Soviet army, asserted that Russian resistance has increased since the evacuation of Rostov but pointed out that the situation remains difficult. Red Star said the Soviets were striving desperately to hold the main German forces which have crossed to the left bank of the Don below Timislyansk.

A stiffening of Soviet resistance had been indicated earlier when the high command announced at midnight that Red army troops had counter-attacked the Germans in the Timislyansk sector and repelled four Nazi assaults in the Bataisk area.

BACK of the amazing display of American flags on the covers of every magazine published in the country during the month of July is Paul Mac-lost 29 bombers in the previous attack on the seaport.

ALL-OUT RAID HITS HAMBURG

The city was overhung by heavy clouds, the air ministry said, but the RAF fliers went down in the face of fierce opposition from anti-aircraft guns to bomb the port from low level.

Large fires broke out over a wide area.

Airdromes Visited

Nazi-held airdromes in the low countries were attacked during the Hamburg raid to keep Luftwaffe planes from intercepting the British bombers.

Offensive patrols of the RAF meanwhile blasted German-controlled railways in occupied France and shipping off the channel coast.

A Berlin broadcast of a German high command announcement said that both high explosive bombs and incendiaries had been showered down on the port.

The new assault on Hamburg, large parts of which were laid waste Sunday night when the RAF pummeled the port with 175,000 incendiaries and two-ton "block" bombs, followed by only a few hours a warning by Air Marshal Arthur Travers Harris, chief of the Royal Air Force bomber command, that American and British bombers "are going to scourge the Third Reich from end to end."

The repeat raid on Hamburg was Britain's immediate answer to the Nazi reprisal raid Monday night against the English industrial city of Birmingham in a feeble German attempt to avenge Sunday's blasting of the Reich seaport.

When the forces of righteousness cooperate as well as the forces of evil, everything will be O. K.

MORE PICKAWAY BOARDS HIRING THEIR TEACHERS

Two school boards in the county met Tuesday evening and employed three teachers.

The Jackson board has hired Mrs. Chester Wertman to teach the sixth grade. She has had previous experience in Pickaway and Fairfield county schools.

Darbyville school officials employed Mrs. Bessie Schleich, Deer creek township, to instruct the seventh and eighth grades, and also to act as principal. The board also announces appointment of Mrs. Margaret Holland, London route 4, to take charge of the fifth and sixth grades. She has been active in the education field for a number of years but has not taught recently.

Following this effort to fill-in vacancies, George D. McDowell, county superintendent, revealed Wednesday that two more teachers had resigned, creating more posts to fill before August 1. Miss Ruth DeMuth, principal of Darby township high school, has resigned to take a position with the Port Clinton school system at an increase in salary. Freda Mattheas, Darby township, has tendered her resignation to accept employment in the Mansfield schools. She was a second grade instructor.

Williamsport board of education meets Wednesday evening and the New Holland Thursday evening in an effort to fill their vacancies.

To date the problem has not become serious but officials have their fingers crossed in the hope that no great demands will be made on the men teachers of the county at an early date.

Speaking of rationing, it's a good thing that people don't have to choose between sugar and tobacco. Too many would crack under the strain.

FOOD SHORTAGE TO BE GREATER

which consumers face a possible shortage are:

Canned fish, dried fruits, cheese, butter, evaporated milk, canned beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, potatoes, powdered milk and salt.

It was pointed out that, in addition to the meat shortage, there already is a shortage of tea, coffee and chocolate, which will become more serious as the war continues.

Officials disclosed that shortages will be caused by large lend-lease shipments, demands of the armed forces and demands of consumers in off-season months.

The disclosure by Agriculture department officials followed President Roosevelt's warning that sacrifices lie ahead which have not yet touched the home and family.

AMERICAN ARMY MEN STATIONED ON GOLD COAST

LONDON, July 29—American troops have arrived on the West African Gold Coast, Lord Swinton, British minister, revealed today in a broadcast.

Talking from Accra, capital of the Gold Coast, Lord Swinton said: "The Americans are here with us, as they are everywhere in this world-wide conflict. I already have experienced the cooperation and frank partnership of General Fitzgerald, commanding the United States forces."

WHITE 'WILLING' TO ENTER RACE FOR CONGRESS

ZANESVILLE, July 29 — Possible re-entry of former Gov. George White of Marietta into the political arena was foreseen today in his statement that he was "willing" to become the Democratic party's candidate for congress from the 15th district.

However, the decision rests with a special executive committee, composed of the chairmen and secretaries of the six county central committees in the district, who will select a candidate to replace Rep. Robert T. Secrest, who has represented the district for 10 years, on the November ballot.

Secrest has announced his resignation from Congress to accept a commission as lieutenant commander in the Navy. He is unopposed for renomination at the August 11 primary. Following his nomination, he is expected to resign from the November ballot, clearing the way for the selection of a candidate by the special executive committee.

White, who represented the district in Congress for three terms, is one of four Democrats in the district mentioned as Secrest's successor on the November ballot.

The others are Charles S. Leasur, former Muskingum county prosecutor; Clarence A. Graham, Zanesville, state central committeeman from the district, and Charles Fogle, Washington county attorney.

"I'm willing to get into this fight," White stated. "I know my way around Washington and I'm ready to pitch in and help in this crisis."

"I supported President Wilson's war program during the first World War and I would support President Roosevelt just as faithfully today."

In addition to his service as governor and congressman, White also is a former national chairman of the Democratic party. He was a member of the congressional ways and means committee in 1917-18.

Reynolds.

WHITE 'WILLING' TO ENTER RACE FOR CONGRESS

ZANESVILLE, July 29 — Possible re-entry of former Gov. George White of Marietta into the political arena was foreseen today in his statement that he was "willing" to become the Democratic party's candidate for congress from the 15th district.

However, the decision rests with a special executive committee, composed of the chairmen and secretaries of the six county central committees in the district, who will select a candidate to replace Rep. Robert T. Secrest, who has represented the district for 10 years, on the November ballot.

Secrest has announced his resignation from Congress to accept a commission as lieutenant commander in the Navy. He is unopposed for renomination at the August 11 primary. Following his nomination, he is expected to resign from the November ballot, clearing the way for the selection of a candidate by the special executive committee.

White, who represented the district in Congress for three terms, is one of four Democrats in the district mentioned as Secrest's successor on the November ballot.

The others are Charles S. Leasure, former Muskingum county prosecutor; Clarence A. Graham, Zanesville, state central committeeman from the district, and Charles Fogle, Washington county attorney.

"I'm willing to get into this fight," White stated. "I know my way around Washington and I'm ready to pitch in and help in this crisis."

"I supported President Wilson's war program during the first World War and I would support President Roosevelt just as faithfully today."

In addition to his service as governor and congressman, White also is a former national chairman of the Democratic party. He was a member of the congressional ways and means committee in 1917-18.

JUDGE ORDERS JUDGE

COLUMBUS, July 29—It's sort of a "man bites dog" story. But Common Pleas Judge Fred W. Everett, Jr., of Jackson county, was ordered to pay $100 a month temporary alimony to Helen L. Everett, now of Columbus, pending settlement of a suit for permanent alimony filed against him June 9 on grounds of gross neglect. The order was issued by Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds.

WITH LOCAL BOYS UNDER THE FLAG

Cadet Carl E. Martin Is Enrolled In Maxwell Field Aviation School

Cadet Carl Edgar Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Martin, 408 East Union street, Circleville, is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces pre-flight school (pilot) at Maxwell field, Alabama, where he is taking the initial steps toward winning his wings as a pilot and a second lieutenant's commission in the Army Air Forces. Here he will undergo expert military, physical and academic training to better fit him for the job of learning to fly our fighter planes.

Cadet Martin attended Circleville high school and was employed in the Quartermaster Department at Camp Pendleton, Virginia, when he was accepted as a cadet in the Army Air Forces on June 15.

After completing his pre-flight course at Maxwell field he will be sent to one of the many primary flying schools located in the Southeast Army Air Forces Training Center for the first phase of his pilot training.

Theodore O. Ballou, son of Eugene A. Ballou, Canton, Ohio, formerly of near Circleville, who is stationed at the U. S. Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Texas, was advanced in rating this week from seaman second class to aviation machinist's mate, 3rd class.

He has successfully completed his basic flying training and now enters advanced school, the final phase in the rigorous course of instruction prescribed by the Army Air Force for its flying officers.

On completion of his training he will be awarded the silver wings of a lieutenant in America's mighty aerial armada.

Private First Class John Frederick Barthelmeas Jr. of Circleville route 4, who has been at Patterson field, Fairfield, O., has been transferred to Fort Dix, N. J. He is in the ground corps of the U. S. A. A. F. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barthelmeas, Circleville route 4.

Joseph Harold Hickey, son of William Hickey of Circleville, and Ross Draize, also of Circleville, have volunteered at Fort Hayes, headquarters of the Fifth Service Command. Both have been assigned to parachute troop training. They expect to return home Wednesday and will return Thursday for assignment to a training post.

HEAVY RAIN FALLS

Reports Wednesday noon indicated that Circleville was the center of a thundershower that hit hard in most areas surrounding the city. The official weather bureau here reported only 2 of an inch of rain. Reports from points North of the city indicated that the shower there was heavy.

OHIO FARMERS PLAY BIG ROLE IN WAR EFFORT

Wheat Harvest End At Hand
With Storage Facilities

SOYBEAN CROP LARGEST

Question Of Place To Keep
Supply Big One; Tomatoes

By Roscoe Treier
COLUMBUS, July 29 — The all-out effort of Ohio farmers to contribute their share to the nation's program for winning the war is showing gratifying results. Dale Williams, vice-chairman of the state AAA committee, reported today.

With the 1942 wheat harvest nearing completion and hundreds of bins—private and government owned—filled to overflowing, Williams said the AAA now is faced with the problem of providing ample storage for the state's soybean crop, which from present estimates, will be the largest in history.

Other records are being broken, too. Williams pointed out that Ohio's tomato crop this year definitely will be the greatest in history. This is viewed with favor due to the importance of the crop to the health diet of United Nations' armed forces.

Ohio's new wheat, nearly all in bins, will total approximately 39,175,000 bushels, Williams stated. In most cases, farmers have been unable to dispose of their crop on the market and as a result, it became necessary to store it.

Many Bins Built
As the state's many privately-owned elevators are filled with last year's crop, the federal government has constructed hundreds of bins to store the grain under a loan program until such a time as it can be disposed of. In Ohio alone, Williams said, there are 2,750 of these government-owned bins each holding from 1,600 to 2,700 bushels. In addition, many farmers have purchased similar bins from the government so they may store their own grain.

With no relief for the storage problem in sight, due to the absence of export trade because of the axis submarine blockade, AAA leaders today said they were soundly perplexed as to which course they will pursue in storing the bumper soybean crop. The bean harvest will begin in October.

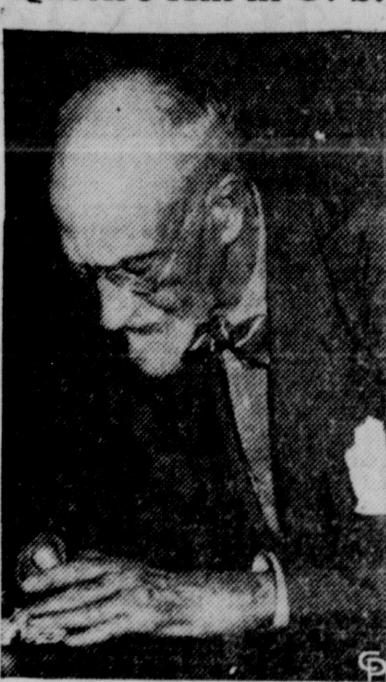

In an effort to ease the situation somewhat, AAA leaders said the government will issue loans on the bean crop this year and undertake the storage of it. This is the first time in AAA history that loans will be made on beans, Williams said. The program is similar to that now in effect for wheat.

While the market price of soybeans next October can only be estimated, the government has already set up loan rates, designed to help the farmer benefit from his crop despite the fact that he probably will not be able to market it. Soybeans are regarded as a war crop and as a result, any person raising them will be eligible to secure a loan, although they may not hold membership in the AAA, Williams stated.

Tomato Yield High
Ohio's 17,000 acres of tomatoes are expected to yield approximately 170,000 tons, or an average of 10 tons to the acre. This is an unusually high yield since the average in last years has been between seven and eight tons to the acre. This, added to the increase of acreage from 8,500 last year makes the Ohio tomato picture decidedly bright, Williams asserted.

Due to soil conditions, the tomato is not an all-Ohio crop, but is raised almost exclusively in western and northwestern Ohio.

Inspection and technical advice concerning the contamination of streets and buildings and reports to the police and wardens when an area is safe for movement; 4. Inspection of food and water supplies and supervision of proper measures for their decontamination; 5. ASHVILLE

Fine lot of 600 baby chicks arrived by parcel post at the local postoffice Tuesday from an out West hatchery and on out to the farm to be grown for some tasty friers along with Winter egg producers when prices are good and away up there. No, these didn't go to Madison township but very near the Walnut line. But these grown up chicks, when they are, are safe from log heap roasting, because they don't do that any more since the edict of "hands off or to the pen you go", has been issued.

Ashville—Up to now the local postoffice has disposed of slightly more than 990 Liberty Bell, $5 auto stamps. If we have it right, only a few days remain yet that auto stamps may be sold at local postoffices.

Ashville—"Necessity is the mother of invention" they say, but in this named case, it was a necessity to get some more grain storage room erected and ready for actual use. The Ashville Grain company management for quite some time has considered increasing the grain storage capacity of its elevator. Some months ago it was announced throughout the grain growing belt that storage room for present crops would be at a premium and much desired, so these named elevator people decided to build additional storage room and in the form of silos. Since, beginning with the last week in May, two of them of concrete slab material, have been under construction and now, they are completed with the exception of the installation of conveyor machinery which is now being placed. These silos are 66 feet high, 19 feet in diameter with a capacity of 15,000 bushels of grain each. The construction people were the Portland Silo company of Indiana, with Charles Leob-signer as foreman in charge.

By Roscoe Treier
COLUMBUS, July 29 — The all-out effort of Ohio farmers to contribute their share to the nation's program for winning the war is showing gratifying results, Dale Williams, vice-chairman of the state AAA committee, reported today.

With the 1942 wheat harvest nearing completion and hundreds of bins—private and government owned—filled to overflowing, Williams said the AAA now is faced with the problem of providing ample storage for the state's soybean crop, which from present estimates, will be the largest in history.

Other records are being broken, too. Williams pointed out that Ohio's tomato crop this year definitely will be the greatest in history. This is viewed with favor due to the importance of the crop to the health diet of United Nations' armed forces.

Ohio's new wheat, nearly all in bins, will total approximately 38,175,000 bushels, Williams stated. In most cases, farmers have been unable to dispose of their crop on the market and as a result, it became necessary to store it.

Many Bins Built

As the state's many privately-owned elevators are filled with last year's crop, the federal government has constructed hundreds of bins to store the grain under a loan program until such a time as it can be disposed of. In Ohio alone, Williams said, there are 2,750 of these government-owned bins each holding from 1,600 to 2,700 bushels. In addition, many farmers have purchased similar bins from the government so they may store their own grain.

With no relief for the storage problem in sight, due to the absence of export trade because of the axis submarine blockade, AAA leaders today said they were soundly perplexed as to which course they will pursue in storing the bumper soybean crop. The bean harvest will begin in October.

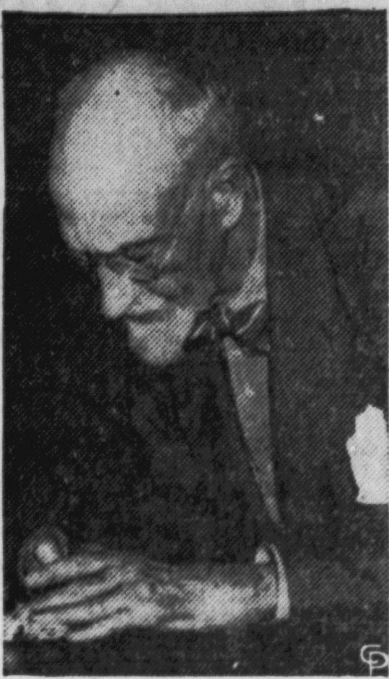

In an effort to ease the situation somewhat, AAA leaders said the government will issue loans on the bean crop this year and undertake the storage of it. This is the first time in AAA history that loans will be made on beans, Williams said. The program is similar to that now in effect for wheat.

While the market price of soybeans next October can only be estimated, the government has already set up loan rates, designed to help the farmer benefit from his crop despite the fact that he probably will not be able to market it. Soybeans are regarded as a war crop and as a result, any person raising them will be eligible to secure a loan, although they may not hold membership in the AAA, Williams stated.

Tomato Yield High

Ohio's 17,000 acres of tomatoes are expected to yield approximately 170,000 tons, or an average of 10 tons to the acre. This is an unusually high yield since the average in last years has been between seven and eight tons to the acre. This, added to the increase of acreage from 8,500 last year makes the Ohio tomato picture decidedly bright, Williams asserted. Due to soil conditions, the tomato is not an all-Ohio crop, but is raised almost exclusively in western and northwestern Ohio.

AND, NOT OR

THE LADY Next Door says she thinks there is too much "Or" in this world and not enough "And." When asked what she meant, she said there was all this talk of whether it was wrong to send planes and things to the Russians when the Chinese maybe needed them worse; whether we should send them to the Pacific or to Europe, and all that.

"We don't want to send to China or Russia or Holland or Great Britain," she said. "We have to send them to China and Russia and all the rest. We are making and sending as fast as we can. Why not assume that we are, and work unitedly towards the end instead of pulling and hauling about the or?"

It looks as if the Lady Next Door had something there. There's rubber, for instance. People are arguing about whether this process or that is better, as if lives depended on whether corn or cane or petroleum were the best source. Why not make rubber out of corn and cane and petroleum? The processes are all more or less experimental. If rubber is made in several different ways, time and experience will shake them all down. Two or three out of a dozen or twenty will prove their worth and can go on. The others will have helped somewhat in the emergency and can then taper off and be forgotten.

After all, the need is to beat Germany and Japan. They must be beaten in this place and that and the other. It doesn't pay to argue about or. The thing to do is to keep busy piling up ships big and little, planes of this kind and that, to keep on adding all kinds and means till the job is done.

ADOLF WILL DECIDE

THE German people, in a way, have no problems to worry them. That is, none that are up to them to solve. Hitler does the solving for them, thus easing their minds even if not providing many material benefits.

Americans can be very scornful about that. Here it is assumed that free-souled Americans do their own thinking, both private and public. And they really have been doing so, on the whole. But how long will such freedom continue?

A sudden illumination, somewhat like a punch in the eye, comes in a little story from Baukage, the radio commentator. He tells of a friend who, when asked lately what he thought about the coming elections in this country, replied that it was hard to tell, because it all depended on one

NEW COOPERATION

WASHINGTON — On many occasions President Roosevelt has summoned labor and capital to the White House and demanded that they iron out disastrous disputes. But when business and labor leaders called on him last week with a pledge of "cooperation to win the war," the President had absolutely nothing to do with inaugurating the move.

The unprecedented step was worked out in a behind-the-scenes conference held in the private dining room of a Washington hotel a few days before the labor and business leaders called on the President. Even before this, however, Eric Johnston, new, refreshing president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, had warmed up the AFL and CIO, as exclusively reported in this column.

After this advance work, Johnston summoned to the secret hotel meeting AFL President William Green, CIO Secretary James B. Carey, AFL Secretary George Meany, William P. Witherow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and all the others who later called on the President, except CIO President Phil Murray who was out of the city.

Elaborate precautions were taken to insure secrecy, so that no one in the administration, not even the President, knew about the get-together. Those present met with one thought in mind — to wipe out completely all barriers between capital and labor for the duration of the war, and to work shoulder to shoulder for victory.

Eric Johnston sounded the keynote of the meeting.

"I guess this is the first time in history," he said, that the AFL, the CIO, the NAM and the U. S. Chamber—the four great organizations representing employees and employers—have ever sat down voluntarily to adjust their own differences without government help.

"We are all intelligent enough to realize what's at stake in this war," Johnston continued, "and if we don't work together, free labor and free management will be washed up. We simply cannot be divided at home and expect to win this war. Therefore, I think we ought to agree right now on some unified plan of action."

After considerable discussion, it was decided to suggest to the President a "joint economic council." This would be composed of representatives of the four groups present, and would advise with war agencies on labor-management problems and make recommendations, from time to time, on war labor policies.

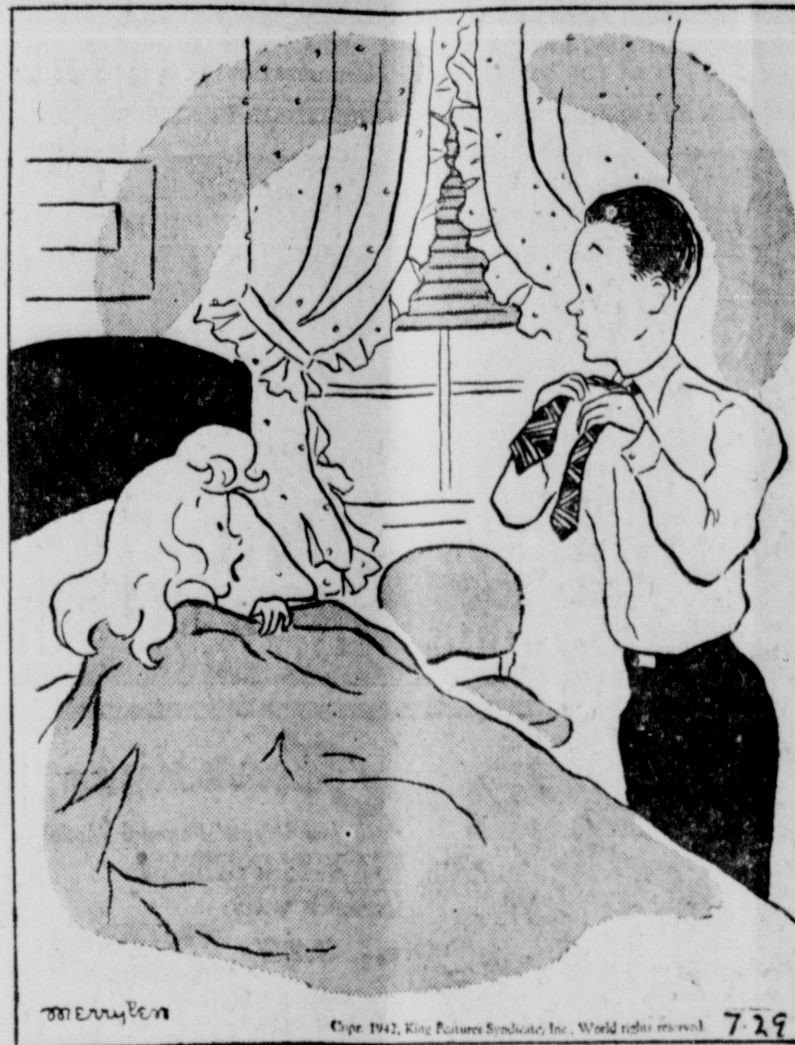

It wasn't announced at the White House, but this was the basis for the plan of cooperation which industry and labor man. And that man, he explained, was not the President, but Hitler.

If it is literally true, as it may be, that the result of Hitler's present drive for the conquest of the Caucasus and its oil will determine how the election turns out in this country next Fall, that war is certainly coming home to the American people.

Science Studies Reactions Of Body to Heat and Cold

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

MEDICAL science has been very much interested in the last few years in the reaction of the body to heat and cold. At this season of the year most people are interested in the reaction of the body to heat.

It is a curious and interesting fact that the fingers and toes exhibit the greatest rise in temperature.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ture of any part when the body is heated. This is probably due to the fact that in the fingers and toes the general reaction of the body to heat is capable of the largest amount of variation. By this I mean that the reaction of the body to heat is, first, to dilate all the superficial capillary blood vessels and then to throw out a thin layer of perspiration which, on drying, reduces the temperature and hence cools the blood in the dilated capillaries.

The fingers and toes have the largest amount of capillary expansion and are very sensitive in responding to changes in the nervous reflexes which cause dilatation of the capillaries. Also the fingers and toes do not sweat very much and hence retain the heat due to the dilated capillaries.

While this has all been proved in very solemn, scientific fashion, it seems to me that human beings have instinctively known this for a long time. The instinct to bathe hands and wrists, to go barefoot in hot weather, to wade or treat the feet to cold water from the hydrant, all point to an instinctive knowledge that reduction of the temperature of the fingers and toes will reduce the temperature of the whole body.

Seasonable Variation

Scientists have also shown that there is a seasonable variation in the capacity of the skin to react to heat. It is possible to measure the time between applying an impulse to the automatic nervous system and the time when the capillary blood vessels begin to dilate.

This period, which is called the clearing time, begins to lengthen progressively in the body, reaches a high level in December which is maintained until spring. This has been proved in observations on the same individual year after year. This variation probably explains why we are so much more uncomfortable in the late spring and early summer heat than we are later on in the summer; the body has not had an opportunity to adjust itself so that rapid cooling reactions can occur.

These experiments, of course, apply to those living continuously in a temperate climate with a wide variation the year around. I know of no such experiments, but I would like to see some on people who live the year around in a fairly hot climate, and on those who regularly go to warm climates during the winter months.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. R. W.: Is it injurious for a person to take a teaspoonful of cascara every night? I find it the best thing I have ever tried for elimination.

Answer: I do not favor the regular use of any cathartic, but cascara is probably the least harmful. However, instead of taking a fixed dose, such as a teaspoonful, measure out the number of drops you need. Maybe a teaspoonful is too much. Cascara, since it is liquid, has an advantage over tablets in that one can learn after a few trials to get the exact dose in drops.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

DIAN SPREAD out two large blankets. Bill and Paul found some planks and made a sort of lean-to, so that they could have shade if they wanted it.

"Imagine having an island like this to come to," Bill said. "I should think you kids would have been coming here all the time."

"Oh, we came plenty of times," Dian said. "Especially Paul and some other boys and myself. I was an adventurous sort of person, in my imagination, anyway." She smiled up at Paul. "Remember the time we had been reading about Cleopatra and Mark Antony—and how excited we got?"

"Yep," said Paul. "And how we persuaded Claire to be Cleopatra." "And placed her in the old flat-bottomed boat for her trip down the Nile."

"And the boat hit a rock." "And Claire did a dive overboard."

"It wasn't so funny. I'll have you know," Claire cut in. "I nearly drowned, with my draperies getting tangled in my feet." She took Bill's arm. "Come on, Bill. I'll show you the other side of the island. The whole place isn't much bigger than a city block."

Bill hesitated. "Shouldn't we stay and help?" he said.

"Trot along," Dian urged. "Paul and I are practical-minded. We'll have things all settled by the time you get back." She handed Bill an empty pail. "There's a spring on the other side, so while you're there, you might as well bring back some water."

Bill took the pail. Claire almost pulled him away.

"A walk," she said, "will give you an appetite for Mother's marvelous fried chicken."

"I'm starved as it is," he said.

Paul watched them move off, and shook his head. "Well, there they go," he said wearily.

"Back up," said Dian; "they'll be back."

"Sure. Of course. And maybe engaged all over again."

Dian snatched his shoulder. "Till I see Bill away after lunch," she said, "and leave you alone with Claire."

"Will you, Dian?" Paul brightened. "Thanks a lot."

"Haven't you made any progress at all?" Dian asked.

"Very little," said Paul. "I think Mrs. Lester's on Bill's side, too. I was alone with her for a little while the other evening, when Claire was showing Bill their huge grape arbor—and—"

"Dragging Bill off to show him things seems to be a habit of Claire's," Dian interrupted. "But pardon me—go on. You were alone with Mrs. Lester. What happened?"

"Oh, she pumped me about how Claire would have to live if she married me," Paul explained, "and then made comparisons. I mean, she then let me know that Bill had a penthouse studio, that he went to nightclubs, gay dinners—things like that. As though I didn't know it already—Claire not being at all reticent about the matter."

"We do have our troubles, don't we, Paul?" said Dian. "You, too?"

"I should say so. I seem now to be booked to take Aunt Martha's place as the Ardendale spinster."

"Say, Dian," Paul said, looking at her puzzled, "what's up?"

"Oh, nothing at all, except that I've a hunch that Aunt Martha's going to land Jerome Carr. And that, as you know, will leave little Dian all alone in the world."

Dian held up her hand, and smiled. "Wait a minute! No sympathetic tears, please. I've been hoping Jerome would come to appreciate Aunt Martha. But I forgot that if he did, and Aunt Martha decided to become mistress of the banker's mansion, little Dian would be on her own for a fact."

"Maybe Fred Mayhew will come back," said Paul. "After all, he hasn't married the New York glamor girl yet."

"And if he did come back—what?"

"You could marry him as planned back in high school days, and—"

"And live scrappily ever after," Dian cut in. "No, thank you, Paul. I have no urge to be tossed aside and picked up at will. She looked off in the direction Claire and Bill had taken. "That's where I seem to differ from certain other people I might mention." She lifted the bowl of potato salad from its box.

"Oh, well, I can always retire to the farm, and become famous as the female hermit who was disappointed in love—jilted—and what have you."

"You talk like a nut!" Paul accused.

"Maybe I am one," said Dian. "But just think what the generations to come will have to look forward to. They can bring parties out to the farm to peer at me. I'll be something of a legend." She turned back to Paul. "Imagine, Paul—me a legend. I'll be the woman who lost one would-be husband to a gal on a boat, and another would-be husband to her aunt. And—"

"Oh, cut it," Paul said. "You'll have me weeping in this coffee pot. And too much salt's bad for coffee."

When everything was in readiness, Dian straightened up and looked about the island.

"Sweet place," she said softly. "Childhood's paradise. Shall we go for the others now?"

"Yes, let's do," said Paul. "It's time they were back."

They moved along a path, suddenly silent—each lost in thought. They climbed a slight rise and looked toward the other side of the island. At first they could see nothing at all of Bill and Claire. Then they saw that the two people were swimming. Bill's arms strong and brown, were rising and falling in the sunlight. Claire, swimming more slowly, was following him.

"They might have waited for us," said Paul.

"Do stop grousing," Dian said. She started down the path toward the spring. "We might as well fill the pail ourselves, and have it ready."

"Let Bill fill it and carry it himself," Paul said. "It's time he made himself useful."

"That's petty," Dian said. "He has made himself useful."

"Yes, useful as a—button-sky," said Paul. "Trying to steal my girl—trying to—"

"Oh, shut up!" Dian said.

By now Bill and Claire had come out of the water. They were standing on the narrow stretch of sandy beach. Claire took off her bathing cap and shook out her hair. It shone like burnished gold in the sunlight.

"Here, Bill," she said, "tie that string there in the back, will you?" She turned her back to Bill. "It's come loose."

"Yes, ma'am," said Bill. He stepped close to Claire, put out his hand, touched her warm soft shoulder. And then she was in his arms. "You're a regular devil," he said huskily.

And kissed her.

Paul gasped. Then he swore under his breath.

"Why, the—the—" he said. And started down the path.

Today's Horoscope

A delightful sense of humor, boundless energy, unusual generosity and a fondness for excitement and outdoor activity are the dominant traits of the person who marks a birthday today. He or she has many friends and takes a great interest in the home. Sudden unexpected changes, annoy-

Born on this date a child will possess strongly developed intellectual faculties, and be exceptionally clever, original and idealistic; but somewhat inclined to make hasty decisions and to accidents.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By— Charles F. Stewart

WASHINGTON.—If there's the least bit of American sentiment in opposition to all-out Yankee war participation it certainly isn't mentioned by any candidate for a senatorial or a representative's seat at the coming election. That is, there's no mention of any such thing except as a treasonable manifestation deserving of isolation in an internment camp or of extinction by a firing squad.

Adolf Hitler

There's no doubt in my own mind that the congressional aspirants all are perfectly honest in their utterances concerning the pending conflict.

It's true that a few of 'em were skeptical, before Pearl Harbor, of the wisdom of administration policies which, in their opinion, were calculated to involve us in the world struggle a bit unnecessarily. They're ardent 100 percenters now, however. In fact they generally are rather extra-vehement, perhaps partly with a view of obliteration from public memory.

As remarked above I haven't a suspicion that one of these chaps is a particle less genuinely enthusiastic than anyone else for the Axis' defeat.

If there were such an exception, though, he'd be far from admitting it—not with his chances at the polls in mind, and he wouldn't be campaigning for himself if he didn't want to win.

Not a Protest

The truth is that that American sentiment is materially more solidly back of a whole-hearted prosecution of World War II than it was back of No. 1. I don't mean to imply that there was much dissent that time either. Still, an occasional unsympathetic chirp was heard then. There isn't a peep at present, except as currently imported by a dozen or so of spies and saboteurs.

Why the difference? I'm inclined to think it's because of the difference between the Kaiser and Herr Hitler.

Bill Hohenzollern was no lovable character, to be sure. Nevertheless, he had some germs of education and civilization in his system. He was taken as a certain sort of established institution, too. He'd had some "bringing up." It took him some time to disabuse folks' minds of the idea that he was human.

Adolf is an immediately-recognized louse. He's accepted as a degenerate—a cheap skate, raised to the nth power. Nobody has to argue, belatedly, that that's what he is. It's conceded in advance.

His affiliation with the Japs doesn't help him, though neither does it hurt him. Nothing could do that.

Benito Mussolini doesn't signify; he's zero.

Of course the French are like the other conquered countries; well co-operate with 'em and the rest of the vanquished bunch for all they're worth.

It isn't alone an American situation. It's PAN-American. In 1914-18 our sister new world republics mostly were middling or toward us. Today, except a couple of 'em, they're aligned with us—and those two are drifting our way.

And China?

As for the Germans? In 1914 a good many allowances were made for 'em. The notion was that the Kaiser was a matter of habit with 'em. But is Hitler a HABIT? Or is he what they LIKE? If the latter's the case, it's hard not to be suspicious of them foreverafterward. Yet it's difficult to regard 'em askance, dating back to the era of Karl Schurz.

How Compunct?

There's one little thing to be taken into consideration. We want our whole effort back of the war, of course.

But is it being conducted COMPETENTLY?

That's a legitimate query—and it's raised.

There are hints that politics enters into the problem.

The complaint's made that there are profits in it, that a small number of interests are scooping in unfairly.

I'm not so sure, in my own mind, that our government agencies don't make it so expensive for these interests to get contracts with us that the latter HAVE to be expensive.

Not that I think the interests graft, but that they're so infernally costly, to the purveyors of their stuff.

Woman's Role In National Effort Viewed On WOSU

Mrs. Fannie Brooks, farm field woman from Pickaway county, was featured in the Wednesday program of the Farm and Home Hour which aired over WOSU at noon.

Mrs. Brooks discussed the farm women's place in the war effort and defense work with excerpts from her talk following.

"Farm women as well as the farmers have a big production job. A bigger one than has ever been undertaken before. We are trying to reach that production goal for more poultry, eggs, and more garden vegetables, and dairy products. While at the same time the farmers are trying to reach the goal for more pork, beef, and thousands more acres of vegetables for factory canning purposes."

"Mothers and homemakers have always had their hands full with the care of children, families to feed, and households to keep running."

"Women's work has always been a big responsible job. Now, with America at war our responsibilities have more than doubled."

"We are doing more than helping produce enough food for our own people; but we are producing for our hungry allies, our boys in Army and Navy service; our girls who have gone as nurses to care for the sick and wounded and those men and women who are turning out the hundreds of bombers, tanks and ships."

"All these people need food. Food produced from American farms and food conserved by the American housewife."

"We are all captains in our homes. The home is the greatest institution in the world. There character is being built and lives are molded for the good or the bad. Upon whose shoulders does this responsibility rest? Why, the women of our country."

"America wants good citizens because good citizens makes good soldiers. Napoleon said: 'The future of the child is always the work of the Mother.'"

"Gardens are very important to the health of any family. They provide fruit and vegetables at low cost. It is more important than ever especially during this war because of the scarcity of time and tires. We cannot spare neither time nor tires now for a shopping trip to town to get fresh vegetables for the daily meal."

"City consumers will have more if the farm women produce and cook fresh vegetables from their own gardens, and use their cellars as a warehouse for the purpose of storing canned and dried foods."

"We can make the household goods we now have and the things we are fortunate enough to acquire, wear better, last longer, and give extra service by giving them the proper care."

"We can also mend or remodel those wool clothes for some member of our family or else pass it on to a more needy one."

"Let's ask ourselves this question: Which would we rather do patch and make over our old garments and know that the boys fighting for our freedom are well provided for, or would we rather live in luxury at home knowing that they are being neglected or deprived of the things they need to serve our country. Mothers which will we do?"

"Yes, I still have another thought, that is the women's part in the war effort, that of keeping up the morale. One way we can keep up morale is to make our homes a pleasant place to live and where our families and friends will love to be."

"We have a full time job: One of the most important in the country. It takes time, energy and planning; BUT WE CAN DO IT, when our LIBERTY is at stake."

"Mothers, wives, homemakers let us give thanks daily that we still live in a land of Freedom knowing that it will continue providing each one will do her part. 'So let's do all we can and do it cheerfully, so that we can say when our boys come home—WE HELPED WIN THIS WAR FOR DEMOCRACY.'"

56 OF ALL-STAR CHOICES AGREE TO PLAY AUG. 8

CHICAGO, July 29—With 56 of the 75 players elected to the intercollegiate, football all-stars teams already signed up for the charity game against the Chicago Bears, a squad of 65 was expected today to be on hand for the first practice session at Northwestern university August 8.

All members of the starting lineup, winners of the nation-wide poll, have accepted invitations to play against the National Football league champions at Soldier field in Chicago the night of August 28.

Bob Westfall, Michigan's great line plunger, telephoned his acceptance from Camp Davis, Jackson, Wyo., and reported that the injury he suffered in a fall from a horse last week was not serious. "Just give me that ball," Westfall said as he hung up.

BEVIL, CHATTANOOGA ACE, IN NO-HIT, NO-RUN EFFORT

ATLANTA, Ga., July 29—Lou Bevil, Chattanooga pitcher, occupied a niche in the hall of fame today following his no-hit, no-run performance against the Atlanta Crackers in the night-cap of a doubleheader last night. Chattanooga won, 3 to 0.

The only thing detracting from Bevil's sterling work was the fact that it was accomplished in an abbreviated, seven-inning contest. At that, only 23 men faced him, two more than the minimum number possible.

Racing to Put Nearly $2,000,000 in War Fund

By Jack Mahon

NEW YORK, July 29 — King horse, his bosses, jockeys and good old John Q. Bettor, the guy whose hard-earned dollars support various starving mutual machines around the country, has raised a total of $1,162,935.50 for war charity so far this Summer and what's more the gang is going to hit the $2,000,000 mark — and maybe will surpass it with ease — this Fall.

This good news was revealed by Chairman Herbert Bayard Swope of the Turf Committee of America today, as he submitted the first report of his board's progress for the most worthy cause.

"The report to date covers the latest contributions received from the Charlestown Jockey club and Suffolk Downs," said Mr. Swope. The former turned over $94,505.12, the profits of its 18 day meeting while Suffolk's Army and Navy Day proceeds amounted to $41,480.30.

President Charles F. Adams of Suffolk said his track would make an additional contribution after the books for the Summer meeting were balanced.

Swope pointed out that $1,065,655.18 was contributed by the racing associations and that $97,280.32 came from individual contributions.

With this start and Rockingham, the half mile tracks in New England and Maryland, and Saratoga, still to be heard from — plus a sensational all-championship day under consideration to wind up the New York season — the Turf Committee is supremely confident they will soar past their original goal.

At the moment it is not possible to estimate just how much Saratoga will be able to contribute. President George H. Bull has assured the committee the track will do its part with a generous donation but will have to wait until the association sees how the gas and tire rationing and transportation difficulties effect the season at the upstate spa.

Swope said that the Delaware track had not been heard from. This association is the only major racing plant of those now active in the country which has not been overly-anxious to do its part in aiding the various war charities and no explanation was forthcoming from either the Turf Committee or Delaware executives.

COMISKEY BOY BANNED FROM WHITE SOX BENCH

CHICAGO, July 29 — Sixteen-year-old Charlie Comiskey, who someday will own the Chicago White Sox baseball club, was forbidden today to sit on the White Sox bench even if he is in uniform.

The order came from Will Harridge, president of the American league. The action of Harridge was the result of an incident last Sunday when young Comiskey, unable to restrain himself, rushed out onto the field to make a protest of an umpire's decision.

Harridge notified Manager Jimmy Dykes of the league rule which prohibits anyone not under contract to the club from sitting on the bench during the progress of the game.

VANDY AND RAY STARR WINNERS OVER PHIL NINE

PHILADELPHIA, July 29 — The Cincinnati Reds today were one game closer to the Brooklyn Dodgers, which means little or nothing, but still the Rhinelanders were finding difficulty in pulling away from the New York Giants in the two clubs' vicious battle for third place in the National league.

The McKechniemen dropped Philadelphia deeper into the cellar yesterday, sweeping a twin bill 8-1 and 3-1.

Johnnie Vander Meer pitched through 8 and 2-3 innings without allowing a hit in the opener, only safeties being registered were hits by the first and next to the last batsmen to face him. Stan Benjamin parked the first pitch of the afternoon out of the park, following which Vander Meer retired 26 in a row before Bobby Bragan scratched a single with two men away in the ninth.

The stickwork of Gee Walker, Max Marshall, Eric Tipton and Frank McCormick paced the 12-hit barrage by the Redies in the inaugural.

Dick West backed up Ray Starr's five-hit pitching performance in the nightcap with a game deciding home run, his first of the year, which plated McCormick to provide the margin of victory. The triumph was Starr's 13th of the year.

ATLANTA MOGUL PLANNING REAL FOUL BALL PROGRAM

ATLANTA, Ga., July 29 — Atlanta baseball fans are going to have a chance to "cash in" on foul balls for the remainder of the 1942 season.

President Earl Mann, of the Atlanta club, today announced that henceforth baseballs will be stamped and will be valued at from 25 cents to $50.

"We will have a $50 bond ball in play at every game and the other amounts will vary, running from the smallest stamp," Mann said in announcing that fans returning foul balls to the business office could exchange them for whatever the stamp called for in War Bonds and Stamps.

Previously, fans have been given free tickets to future games for returning foul balls.

DODGERS RETAIN LEAD OVER N. L.

Bums and Cardinals Split In Doubleheader; Rizzo's Homer Major Blow

By International News Service

Brooklyn Dodgers still were seven games out in the National league pennant race today with one game to go against the second place St. Louis Cardinals in their "crucial" series at Ebbets field.

Whether the Dodgers will emerge from the three-game tussle leading by eight games or by only six will be determined in the final twilight engagement. The Cards were expected to send Mort Cooper after his 13th win against four defeats and John Whitlow Wyatt was scheduled to seek his 12th victory against three defeats for the Dodgers.

In yesterday's series opening double-header the Dodgers capitalized on six unearned runs—five of them in the first inning—to take the first game, 7 to 6, then blew the nightcap, 9 to 1, when the Cards staged a seven-run uprising in the seventh.

Johnny Rizzo's eighth inning, one-run homer settled the issue in the opening tilt after the teams had tussled to a 6-6 deadlock. Victory and defeat went to relief hurlers, Curt Davis taking the win over Howard Pollock.

Max Lanier limited the Dodgers to six hits in the second game to win easily behind his mates' 16-hit attack that caused Kirby Higbe to be sent to the showers charged with the loss.

Cincinnati and New York meantime won double headers, the Reds beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, while the Giants were downing the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 5 and 3 to 0.

Johnny Vander Meer was nixed for a home run by Stan Benjamin on his first pitch in the Reds' first game with the Phils, before he settled down to allow only one hit the rest of the way to win easily. Ray Starr won a five-hit bid for the Reds in the nightcap.

Carl Hubbell struggled to victory in the opener for the Giants, then Hal Schumacher hurled a three-hitter to cop the nightcap.

The Boston Braves nosed out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3, with a run in the ninth when, with the bags loaded, Third Baseman Bob Elliott juggled Nanny Fernandez' doubling play grounder, to let in the winning run.

The New York Yankees maintained the 12 1/2 game lead in the American league by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 3, prior to the second place Boston Red Sox' night victory over the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 1.

Ernie Bonham won his 11th victory for the Yanks, while Dobson, a former Indian, won his seventh for the Sox, who made it two straight over the Tribe.

In the only other game, the Washington Senators beat the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 4, despite seven errors by the winners.

COLUMBUS, July 29—A glance at the American association standings today reveals that the race is turning into something about as tight as the proverbial sailor's knot, with even the seventh place team only 5 1/2 games away from the top of the heap.

Sixth-place Toledo won their sixth in a row when they dumped the league leading Milwaukee Brewers, 6-0, and that, coupled with the split of a double header by Columbus and Kansas City,

56 OF ALL-STAR CHOICES AGREE TO PLAY AUG. 8

CHICAGO, July 29—With 56 of the 75 players elected to the intercollegiate football all-stars teams already signed up for the charity game against the Chicago Bears, a squad of 65 was expected today to be on hand for the first practice session at Northwestern university August 8.

All members of the starting lineup, winners of the nation-wide poll, have accepted invitations to play against the National Football league champions at Soldier field in Chicago the night of August 28.

Bob Westfall, Michigan's great line plunger, telephoned his acceptance from Camp Davis, Jackson, Wyo., and reported that the injury he suffered in a fall from a horse last week was not serious. "Just give me that ball," Westfall said as he hung up.

BEVIL, CHATTANOOGA ACE, IN NO-HIT, NO-RUN EFFORT

ATLANTA, Ga., July 29—Lou Bevil, Chattanooga pitcher, occupied a niche in the hall of fame today following his no-hit, no-run performance against the Atlanta Crackers in the night-cap of a doubleheader last night. Chattanooga won, 3 to 0.

The only thing detracting from Bevil's sterling work was the fact that it was accomplished in an abbreviated, seven-inning contest. At that, only 23 men faced him, two more than the minimum number possible.

Racing to Put Nearly $2,000,000 in War Fund

By Jack Mahon
NEW YORK, July 29—King horse, his bosses, jockeys and good old John Q. Bettor, the guy whose hard-earned dollars support various starving mutual machines around the country, has raised a total of $1,162,935.50 for war charity so far this Summer and what's more the gang is going to hit the $2,000,000 mark — and maybe will surpass it with ease — this Fall.

This good news was revealed by Chairman Herbert Bayard Swope of the Turf Committee of America today, as he submitted the first report of his board's progress for the most worthy cause.

"The report to date covers the latest contributions received from the Charlestown Jockey club and Suffolk Downs," said Mr. Swope. The former turned over $94,505.12, the profits of its 18 day meeting while Suffolk's Army and Navy Day proceeds amounted to $41,480.30.

President Charles F. Adams of Suffolk said his track would make an additional contribution after the books for the Summer meeting were balanced.

Swope pointed out that $1,065,655.18 was contributed by the racing associations and that $97,280.32 came from individual contributions.

With this start and Rockingham, the half mile tracks in New England and Maryland, and Saratoga, still to be heard from — plus a sensational all-championship day under consideration to wind up the New York season — the Turf Committee is supremely confident they will soar past their original goal.

At the moment it is not possible to estimate just how much Saratoga will be able to contribute. President George H. Bull has assured the committee the track will do its part with a generous donation but will have to wait until the association sees how the gas and tire rationing and transportation difficulties effect the season at the upstate spa.

Swope said that the Delaware track had not been heard from. This association is the only major racing plant of those now active in the country which has not been overly-anxious to do its part in aiding the various war charities and no explanation was forthcoming from either the Turf Committee or Delaware executives.

DODGERS RETAIN LEAD OVER N. L.

Bums And Cardinals Split In Doubleheader; Rizzo's Homer Major Blow

By International News Service
Brooklyn Dodgers still were seven games out in the National league pennant race today with one game to go against the second place St. Louis Cardinals in their "crucial" series at Ebbets field.

Whether the Dodgers will emerge from the three-game tussle leading by eight games or by only six will be determined in the final twilight engagement. The Cards were expected to send Mort Cooper after his 13th win against four defeats and John Whitlow Wyatt was scheduled to seek his 12th victory against three defeats for the Dodgers.

In yesterday's series opening double-header the Dodgers capitalized on six unearned runs—five of them in the first inning—to take the first game, 7 to 6, then blew the nightcap, 9 to 1, when the Cards staged a seven-run uprising in the seventh.

Johnny Rizzo's eighth inning, one-run homer settled the issue in the opening tilt after the teams had tussled to a 6-6 deadlock. Victory and defeat went to relief hurlers, Curt Davis taking the win over Howard Pollock.

Max Lanier limited the Dodgers to six hits in the second game to win easily behind his mates' 16-hit attack that caused Kirby Higbe to be sent to the showers charged with the loss.

Cincinnati and New York meantime won double headers, the Reds beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, while the Giants were downing the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 5 and 3 to 0.

Johnny Vander Meer was nipped for a home run by Stan Benjamin on his first pitch in the Reds' first game with the Phils, before he settled down to allow only one hit the rest of the way to win easily. Ray Starr won a five-hitter for the Reds in the nightcap.

Carl Hubbell struggled to victory in the opener for the Giants, then Hal Schumacher hurled a three-hitter to cop the nightcap.

The Boston Braves nosed out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3, with a run in the ninth when, with the bags loaded, Third Baseman Bob Elliott juggled Nanny Fernandez' double-play grounder, to let in the winning run.

The New York Yankees maintained the 12 1/2 game lead in the American league by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 3, prior to the second place Boston Red Sox' night victory over the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 1.

Ernie Bonham won his 11th victory for the Yanks, while Dobson, a former Indian, won his seventh for the Sox, who made it two straight over the Tribe.

In the only other game, the Washington Senators beat the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 4, despite seven errors by the winners.

STANDING CHECK SHOWS RACE IN A. A. IS TORRID

COLUMBUS, July 29—A glance at the American association standings today reveals that the race is turning into something about as tight as the proverbial sailor's knot, with even the seventh place team only 5 1/2 games away from the top of the heap.

Sixth-place Toledo won their sixth in a row when they dumped the league leading Milwaukee Brewers, 6-0, and that, coupled with the split of a double header by Columbus and Kansas City, left the Brewers and Blues in a tie for first place and the Red Birds only a half game away in second. Kansas City took the opener, 2-0, and Columbus the nightcap 3-2.

In third place is Minneapolis, who dropped a 12-inning contest to Indianapolis, 11-0. The Indians are in fourth place, only four games away from the tied-up Brewers and Blues.

While all this was going on, lowly St. Paul split a twin bill with Louisville, the Saints taking the opener, 7-4, and the Colonel, the afterpiece, 5-4, in 10 innings.

Toledo stands five games away from the top of the pile; Louisville in seventh place, is 5 1/2 games behind, and trailing St. Paul is 14 games out of top spot.

BETTINA LOSES CHANCE TO AID BANK ROLL WITH FIGHT AGAINST DORAZIC

PHILADELPHIA, July 29—Cheated by inclement weather of his farewell to fisticuffs for the duration, Melio Bettina, Beacon N. Y., lefty, today prepared to report to the Army tomorrow at Camp Upton.

Frowsy weather two nights in a row caused Promoter Herman Taylor to cancel the scheduled 10-round return bout with Gus Dorazio at Shibe park. It was a body blow to Melio, who wanted the money he would have earned to build up the bank account for his father, mother and two young er brothers.

"It's a tough break, all right," he said, "but there's nothing to do but forget it."

ATLANTA MOGUL PLANNING REAL FOUL BALL PROGRAM

ATLANTA, Ga., July 29—Atlanta baseball fans are going to have a chance to "cash in" on foul balls for the remainder of the 1942 season.

President Earl Mann, of the Atlanta club, today announced that henceforth baseballs will be stamped and will be valued at from 25 cents to $50.

"We will have a $50 bond ball in play at every game and the other amounts will vary, running from the smallest stamp," Mann said in announcing that fans returning foul balls to the business office could exchange them for whatever the stamp called for in War Bonds and Stamps.

Previously, fans have been given free tickets to future games for returning foul balls.

Junior Fair To Be Conducted; Show Society Votes Approval

BLAIR'S APPEAL WINS FAVOR OF SENIOR GROUP

East Franklin Street Will Be Scene With No Frills To Be Provided

YOUTHS TO PARTICIPATE

Event Expected To Be Held In October; Soliciting To Be Arranged

Pickaway county youths will have a Junior Fair this Fall. Pickaway County Agricultural Society decided at a meeting Tuesday evening.

The society, sponsors of the annual Pumpkin Show, decided to back the affair after Kelsey Blair, head of 4-H Club work in this area, appeared before the group and explained the plans of his organization for holding the event.

Citing the interest of county youth in group projects, Blair pointed to the present club camp in Ross-Hocking counties and reported that some 290 youths are enjoying the outing with more than three times as many as last year signing for the camp this year. The reason for this activity, Blair stated, has been the fact that rural residents no longer have any place to go during Summer months.

Present plans as adopted by the society include granting $500 to the Junior Fair Board, which will operate independently of the Pumpkin Show Society. It is possible that $800 in state funds will be obtained for premiums. No definite announcement was made on the latter, pending investigation of the financial problem.

Solicitation Planned

Blair will go ahead with plans to hold the county farm exhibit with members of his new show group to solicit for contributions from all county residents with which to help support the event. Tentative arrangements include the use of East Franklin street as the fair site with several buildings and merchant display windows to house part of the displays of the farm youth.

Merchants of the city, the farm youth, Pumpkin Show officials and other interests were represented at the meeting with all pledging their support to the newly created Junior Fair which will probably be held during October.

Livestock, handicraft and other club projects will be placed on exhibit for competitive prizes in the event. Several hundred youths from the country are expected to submit entries in the fair with many parents and persons from the county expected to attend the three day session. Livestock and other projects are already being completed by many of the boys and girls in preparation for the event.

The show society in supporting the event by unanimous vote also frowned on any diversion from a strict policy of not holding a 'street fair' and suggested that there be no concessions of any kind. Original plans called for merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, pop stands and other forms of amusement.

Jaycees To Aid In Junior Fair

Circleville's Junior Chamber of Commerce voted at a meeting Tuesday evening to back 100 percent any Junior Fair which is started for Pickaway county this Fall. The group suggested that it would do its part in promoting such an event so long as the carnival aspect is kept away from the show. The Jaycees will contact merchants in an effort to obtain display space for the rural exhibits and suggested Wednesday that the prizes be awarded on a Saturday afternoon with the governor and the secretary of agriculture to be invited to attend the ceremonies.

Reports from the group indicate that it has collected some 150 pictures of boys who are in the serv-

New Labor Group

Delegates from 10 unions, meeting in Chicago to form a third national labor union, have elected Matthew Smith, national secretary of the Mechanics Educational Society of America, as temporary chairman of the new Conference of Independent Unions. The organization, which will hold a convention in Chicago in October, will be "in direct competition and open conflict" with the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L., according to Smith.

METERS READY FOR OPERATION

Three More Streets To Be Regulated Under City's Traffic Program

Eighty new parking meters went into operation Wednesday at noon. The new meters have been placed on East Main street to the second alley, on East Franklin to the first alley and on South Court to Mound with the exception of the postoffice space that is regulated by a fifteen minute parking ordinance.

A crew of six men has been three days in placing the meters with the company workers moving on to Wilmington next.

ice so far. The group has sent letters to parents of all boys in service in an effort to obtain the Army men's picture for a roll of honor that will be placed in a downtown store. Anyone knowing of someone in service who has not been contacted has been asked to send his pictures to the Chamber regardless.

Reduction of costs at the hospital, the street lighting question, a motion to open the stamp booth at Court and Main and one new member, were other items discussed by the body. The defense booth will be opened within the next several weeks.

Harry Welker has been accepted as a new member of the organization.

Members of the War Service Committee will meet Wednesday evening to make final arrangements for the send-off party planned for August 12.

LABOR'S INFLUENCE

Despite the seriousness of the business-labor session, there was one mirthful moment when Johnston made a grinning remark about labor's "influence" with the government.

"What are you talking about," replied Bill Green goodnaturedly. "Big business is in the driver's seat. Your dollar-a-year men are running the show."

"That's right," chorused CIO's Carey and George Meany of the AFL. "Why, labor doesn't even have representation in the cabinet."

This dig at Secretary of Labor Perkins brought a howl from everyone — including sedate William P. Witherow, president of the Manufacturers Association.

"Come now," persisted Witherow. "You still haven't answered the question. What's the secret of labor's influence with the Administration?"

"I guess it's because we control more votes than you fellows," grinned Carey.

ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT IN BRAZIL

On a recent trip from Rio to Washington, Fernando Lobo, assistant Minister-Counselor of the Brazilian Embassy, stopped overnight at the strategic port of Belem, well known these days to many an American aviator.

At Belem's Grand hotel, Lobo asked the proprietor how he liked the American fliers constantly passing through.

"Fine," said the proprietor. "Fine. But once I did the wrong thing. A captain came to the hotel, a big American, and he wrote his name in the book, but I didn't pay attention. I just gave him a room on the top floor and forgot about him."

"Then pretty soon came a colonel, and he signed the book. When he saw the name of the captain, he said to me, 'Look who you have here; this is the son of the President—Captain Elliott Roosevelt.'"

"So I ran upstairs right away and apologized to Captain Roosevelt for giving him such a poor room. But he was already stretched out on the bed, and he said, 'It's all right; it's fine.' So I left him."

"But that night—what do you suppose? That very night, the German radio announced from Berlin that Captain Elliott Roose-

NAZI LINES

Goebbels' propagandists are overlooking no bets in their efforts to disrupt good neighbor relations with South America. Here is one of the latest of the whoppers they have broadcast.

Several months ago the city of Santiago, Chile, contracted to purchase 13 old trolleys from Erie, Pa., street railway system. At the last minute the WPB and the Office of War Transportation vetoed the deal because (1) a cargo vessel couldn't be spared to deliver the cars; (2) the trolleys were vitally needed in Atlanta, Ga., to provide transportation for war plant workers.

The State department explained this to the Chilean Embassy and was assured that the Chilean government and Santiago municipal authorities would "readily understand" the circumstances. Within 24 hours after an explanatory message was sent to Santiago, Nazi shortwavers were on the air with a high-powered bulletin, broadcast all over South America, stating:

"Relations between the United States and Chile were further strained today when the United States blocked delivery of 13 street cars to the city of Santiago. The cars have already been paid for and are lying idle, but the United States refuses to permit their shipment to Santiago, where they are needed to solve a transportation crisis."

PACK OF CORN CROP STARTED

Esmeralda First To Get Lines Under Way; Over 5,000 Acres Ready

First sweet corn to be packed in the 1942 season was brought into the Esmeralda Canning company Tuesday where operations got under way around noon. The Winorr company expects to start Wednesday or Thursday with H. M. Crites to start the latter part of the week.

An excellent crop of corn this year, together with increased acreage, indicates that factories will keep laborers busy for a number of weeks. The crop in the county will total more than 5,000 acres with the yield expected to be very high under present weather conditions.

FOUR AT MEETING HELD FOR POLICE OFFICIALS

William McCrady, police chief; Charles Radcliff, sheriff; George Gerhardt, prosecutor; and Tom Wilson, head of Civilian Defense in the county, were among those from this area who journeyed to Columbus Wednesday afternoon to attend a police conference. The confab began at 2 o'clock with many interesting speakers scheduled to make appearances throughout the day.

FEDERAL STAMP MUST BE BOUGHT PRIOR TO AUG. 1

"While most owners of motor vehicles have purchased and affixed to their cars the federal use tax stamp for the fiscal year, there are still some drivers subject to penalty for not doing so," Harry F. Busey, collector of internal revenue, announced Wednesday.

After August 1, postoffices will cease the selling of these stamps and any who have not purchased them by that time will have to get them from the Cashier in the internal revenue office on the second floor of the new postoffice building in Columbus.

This applies to all motorists of the twenty-eight counties of the Columbus internal revenue district, including Pickaway.

Representatives of the internal revenue office aided, in Franklin and several other counties by the sheriffs' force, will vigorously pursue to a conclusion any violation of the use tax stamp law. Motorists must not only have these stamps but must have them affixed to the vehicle.

The penalty for failing to purchase and display the stamp is a fine of $25 or thirty days in jail or both.

"We have been reluctant to make arrests for non-compliance with the use tax law so far," Collector Busey said, "but after a month has elapsed, I can see no reason for further leniency."

The stamps may be purchased at all postoffices until August 1.

After that, they can only be secured from the internal revenue office.

COLUMBUS TOLD BY ARMY CHIEF TO 'CLEAN CITY'

COLUMBUS, July 28 — Unless the city of Columbus immediately brings about a thorough cleanup in vice conditions "known to exist," the Army's only alternative will be to invoke the May Act, providing for the utilization of federal police officials, the commanding officer of the Fifth Service Command warned today.

Maj. Gen. Fred C. Wallace, in a letter to Columbus Safety Director Roy Weed, emphasized that the "suppression of vice within the city is a civic responsibility and not that of military authorities."

He blamed the laxity of 128 city policemen for existing conditions. Meanwhile, the state liquor board was scheduled to conduct a hearing today on the request of Col. O. M. Baldinger, commander of Lockbourne air base, for revocation of the liquor license of the Brysonian at Shadeville.

Lipstick containers, rouge boxes and miscellaneous brass bottle caps used up 2,800 tons of brass in 1941, or 2,250 tons of copper and 550 tons of zinc.

Junior Fair To Be Conducted; Show Society Votes Approval

BLAIR'S APPEAL WINS FAVOR OF SENIOR GROUP

East Franklin Street Will Be Scene With No Frills To Be Provided

YOUTHS TO PARTICIPATE

Event Expected To Be Held In October; Soliciting To Be Arranged

Pickaway county youths will have a Junior Fair this fall. Pickaway County Agricultural Society decided at a meeting Tuesday evening.

The society, sponsors of the annual Pumpkin Show, decided to back the affair after Kelsey Blair, head of 4-H Club work in this area, appeared before the group and explained the plans of his organization for holding the event.

Citing the interest of county youth in group projects, Blair pointed to the present club camp in Ross-Hocking counties and reported that some 290 youths are enjoying the outing with more than three times as many as last year signing for the camp this year. The reason for this activity, Blair stated, has been the fact that rural residents no longer have any place to go during summer months.

Present plans as adopted by the society include granting $500 to the Junior Fair Board, which will operate independently of the Pumpkin Show Society. It is possible that $800 in state funds will be obtained for premiums. No definite announcement was made on the latter, pending investigation of the financial problem.

Solicitation Planned

Blair will go ahead with plans to hold the county farm exhibit with members of his new show group to solicit for contributions from all county residents with which to help support the event. Tentative arrangements include the use of East Franklin street as the fair site with several buildings and merchant display windows to house part of the displays of the farm youth.

Merchants of the city, the farm youth, Pumpkin Show officials and other interests were represented at the meeting with all pledging their support to the newly created Junior Fair which will probably be held during October.

Livestock, handicraft and other club projects will be placed on exhibit for competitive prizes in the event. Several hundred youths from the county are expected to submit entries in the fair with many parents and persons from the county expected to attend the three day session. Livestock and other projects are already being completed by many of the boys and girls in preparation for the event.

The show society in supporting the event by unanimous vote also frowned on any diversion from a strict policy of not holding a "street fair" and suggested that there be no concessions of any kind. Original plans called for merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, pop stands and other forms of amusement.

Jaycees To Aid In Junior Fair

Circleville's Junior Chamber of Commerce voted at a meeting Tuesday evening to back 100 percent any Junior Fair which is started for Pickaway county this fall. The group suggested that it would do its part in promoting such an event so long as the carnival aspect is kept away from the show. The Jaycees will contact merchants in an effort to obtain display space for the rural exhibits and suggested Wednesday that the prizes be awarded on a Saturday afternoon with the governor and the secretary of agriculture to be invited to attend the ceremonies.

Reports from the group indicate that it has collected some 150 pictures of boys who are in the service.

New Labor Group

Delegates from 10 unions, meeting in Chicago to form a third national labor union, have elected Matthew Smith, national secretary of the Mechanics Educational Society of America, as temporary chairman of the new Conference of Independent Unions. The organization, which will hold a convention in Chicago in October, will be "in direct competition and open conflict" with the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L., according to Smith.

METERS READY FOR OPERATION

Three More Streets To Be Regulated Under City's Traffic Program

Eighty new parking meters went into operation Wednesday at noon.

The new meters have been placed on East Main street to the second alley, on East Franklin to the first alley and on South Court to Mound with the exception of the postoffice space that is regulated by a fifteen minute parking ordinance.

A crew of six men has been three days in placing the meters with the company workers moving on to Wilmington next.

Scientists have definitely catalogued over 300 different species of insects found imprisoned in amber. This enables them to study the early life on the earth some 60,000,000 years ago, long antedating the appearance of man.

ice so far. The group has sent letters to parents of all boys in service in an effort to obtain the Army men's picture for a roll of honor that will be placed in a downtown store. Anyone knowing of someone in service who has not been contacted has been asked to send his pictures to the Chamber regardless.

Reduction of costs at the hospital, the street lighting question, a motion to open the stamp booth at Court and Main and one new member, were other items discussed by the body. The defense booth will be opened within the next several weeks.

Harry Welker has been accepted as a new member of the organization.

Members of the War Service Committee will meet Wednesday evening to make final arrangements for the send-off party planned for August 12.

LABOR'S INFLUENCE

Despite the seriousness of the business-labor session, there was one mirthful moment when Johnston made a grinning remark about labor's "influence" with the government.

"What are you talking about," replied Bill Green goodnaturedly. "Big business is in the driver's seat. Your dollar-a-year men are running the show."

"That's right," chorused CIO's Carey and George Meany of the AFL. "Why, labor doesn't even have representation in the cabinet."

This dig at Secretary of Labor Perkins, brought a howl from everyone — including sedate William P. Witherow, president of the Manufacturers Association.
